

The Quesada revolution, although unsuccessful now, appears as if likely to eventuate in the independence of Cuba, through a new complication it has served to develop. The volunteer soldiery, awakened by the late war to a comprehensive sense of their own power and importance, naturally desire to have some voice in the choice of rulers, and, accordingly, have allied themselves with Count Valmaseda in an effort to get rid of De Rodas, who is in high favor with the home Government. Having already driven out one Captain-General, the volunteers will not hesitate, should their wishes be defied, to repeat the same treatment to the present one. Indeed, rumors are now current in the North, alleging that they have already assumed a hostile attitude and taken possession of the Moro. One thing is certain—the volunteers of Havana will henceforth be found harder to deal with than heretofore. Spain can no longer look for that blind obedience to the despotism with which the island has been ruled; nor expect, as of old, to monopolize its revenues by rigidly excluding from office all persons of native birth. Valmaseda has made himself the hero of the war; he is already courted by popularity, and intriguing with the citizen soldiery. Possessed of inordinate ambition, courage, cruelty and inflexibility of purpose, he is just the man to rob Spain of her jewel, and build it into an island empire of his own, should he undertake it.

UNITED STATES COURT.—Hon. George S. Bryan, Judge, presiding.—The following business was disposed of in the District and Circuit Courts yesterday:

District Court.—Ex parte Joseph K. Davis, John G. Bobb, Thos. W. Robb, of Fairfield, J. M. Hunnicutt, of Pickens; Joseph H. Stroub, of Chester; Robt. Whitesides, of York.—Petitions for final discharge in bankruptcy. Granted.

A Richmond correspondent says that Mr. Peabody's donation to Washington College of his $60,000 claim upon the State of Virginia, is likely to prove worthless. The House of Representatives has referred the claim to the Board of Public Works, which, in 1866, reported that the State was not liable, after taking voluminous evidence upon the subject, and after despatching an agent, the Hon. A. R. Holliday, to England to investigate the matter.

A FATHER AND TWO SONS DROWNED.—Robert Decker, formerly door-keeper to the State Assembly, and his two sons, residents of Greenport, near Hudson, N. Y., were drowned in the river opposite Catskill. The youngest son was gathering flood-wood, when he fell overboard, and his father and brother attempted to rescue him and they were all drowned. The bodies were recovered.

A MEDAL TO DU CHAILLUL.—The American Geographical and Statistical Society in New York, will present Paul Du Chaillul, the African explorer, with the gold medal voted him by the Imperial Geographical Society of France, for his journeys and discoveries in Ashango Land. The medal will be presented on this occasion at the request of the French Society.

THE DISASTER AT RICHMOND.—The committee of citizens of Richmond who have prepared an address to the people of the United States, in behalf of the sufferers by the recent disaster in that city, state that the number of persons has been ascertained to be not less than 350 persons, of whom sixty-five have died, and many are seriously injured.

THE FRUIT CROP OF VIRGINIA.—The Petersburg Index says: The prospect for an abundant crop of fruit of all kinds this year, is exceedingly gratifying. It will be the best fruit year, in all respects, that we have had in a long time.

Wyoming nurses calm the rising generation by singing: "Nice little baby, don't get in a hurry, cause mamma's gone to sit on the jury."

THE DEPTHS OF THE SEA.—The general belief that the bed of the deep ocean is as far beneath the reach of direct examination by scientific men as the substance of the solid earth at the same depths, has been dispelled by the success of some bold English investigators in directly exploring the depths of the sea. It appears that Professor Thompson and Dr. Carpenter, with the aid of a new contrivance for dredging, have succeeded in bringing up at different times loads of nearly half a ton of deposits from a depth of fourteen thousand feet (or two miles and two-thirds) below the surface. There are but three or four peaks in Europe which are higher above the sea-level than the sea-level is above the depths thus examined. The results of this examination have not yet been finally embodied in the sciences on which they bear, but enough has been published of them to show that some of the common doctrines of geologists and physiologists at least need revision. It is stated that at depths where the pressure of the water is more than four hundred tons to each square foot, where the cold is always below the freezing point of water at the surface, and where not one particle of light from the sun or air can penetrate, there are beings, animals of much complexity of organization, and with eyes as perfect in every respect as those of the fishes and reptiles best known to us.

Another striking discovery is that these creatures, found in the limestone mud of to-day, are in all important respects like those found by geologists in the limestone beds of Europe, referred by them to an epoch of the earth's remote formative history, millions of ages ago. But removing their dredges a few miles, the explorers find the sea depositing sand-stone debris, and in it are other creatures corresponding in all points to the sand-stone fossils which geologists have always referred to another epoch, remote from us, indeed, but also divided by unmeasured eras from the former. Here they are, building side by side these two widely different classes of fossiliferous strata; "and the discovery that they may actually co-exist upon adjacent surfaces," says Dr. Carpenter, "has done no less than strike at the very root of the customary assumptions with regard to geological time."

The New York Evening Post, commenting upon the testimony thus brought up from the depths of the sea, expresses the opinion that this discovery affords the strongest support to Sir Charles Lyell's theory, that the past changes of the earth are to be studied as the result of forces now in action upon it; that the whole science of geology is one vast expression of the uniformity of law; that its final lesson, in short, is that which was long ago announced in Holy Writ, "The thing which has been, this is that which shall be, and there is nothing new under the sun."

A considerable portion of the Jewish populations of Lithuania and Poland are about to emigrate to the countries of the Don and the Caucasus, the remainder proceeding to North America. The Russian Government has given its consent, and has delivered passports to every man possessed of seventy-five roubles (300fr.). Important sums have also been contributed for that object by the Jewish societies of London and Paris.

Manitobah, which, in the Indian tongue, signifies the "Speaking God," is the name decided upon by the Canadian ministry as the official title for the Territory just acquired from the Hudson's Bay Company, and popularly known as Winnipeg or the Red River Country.

Near Raleigh, N. C., on Thursday, an abandoned woman named Mary Ann Dalton, dressed herself in man's clothes, and went to the residence of Mr. Jarvis Wood, with the object of fighting him. Supposing her to be a man, and that she intended to do him bodily harm, Mr. Wood shot and killed her.

POLLOCK'S.—Meals furnished at all hours. Mesdames Woodhull and Claflin, the Wall street brokers, are about engaging in the publication of a weekly paper, which will advocate woman's suffrage, and denounce both the Republican and Democratic parties as opposed to the "progress" which the sheet will advocate.

The Springfield (Massachusetts) Republican gives the following, under the heading "Vital Statistics": "An unmarried Pittsfield Miss, of thirteen, is about to become a mother, and another, a year her senior, became such last week."

Lunch every day at Pollock's. An attempt was made, a few evenings ago, to garrote Colonel James Piek, Jr., but just as the villain threw his arms around the Colonel's neck, his servant, a gigantic negro, who was a few paces in the rear of Prince Erie, seized the garroter and hurled him into the street.

There is a great plethora of national bank notes in New York, and banks are offering them at three per cent. for two weeks, and free from interest for one week, where greenbacks are returned, and a discount of seventy-five cents to one dollar per thousand is allowed, where bankers will give checks for greenbacks.

Everybody, go to Pollock's! The remains of Josh Silsbee, the Yankee comedian, were exhumed after fifteen years' burial, and were found in a perfect condition. There was no perceptible change, other than the eyes had fallen in.

Seven American ladies are engaged as sculptors in Rome at the present time—Misses Hoerner, Whitney, Lewis, (colored,) Freeman, Stebbins, Foley and Virginia Ream.

Thirsty people, go to Pollock's. The Petersburg amendments are obliterating the traces of the late unpleasantness, by using the head-boards of the Confederate dead for fuel.

Connoisseurs, go to Pollock's.

A KNOWN TEXT.—There was once an itinerant preacher in West Tennessee, who, possessing considerable natural eloquence, had gradually become possessed of the idea that he was also an extraordinary Biblical scholar. Under this delusion, he would very frequently, at the close of his sermons, ask any member of his congregation who might have a "knotty text" to unravel, to speak it, and he would explain it at once, however much it might have troubled "less distinguished divines." On one occasion, in a large audience, he was particularly pressing for some one to propound a text; but no one presuming to do so, he was about to sit down without an opportunity to show his learning, when a chap back by the door announced he had a Bible matter of great "concern," which he desired to be enlightened upon. The preacher, quite aimlessly, professed his willingness and ability, and the congregation was in great excitement.

"What I want to know," said the outsider, "is whether Job's turkey was a hen or a gobbler."

The "expounder" looked confused, and the congregation tittered as the questioner capped the climax by exclaiming, in a loud voice:

"I fetched him down on the fust question!"

From that time forward, the practice of asking for difficult passages was discontinued.

A curious story is afloat about the Baron James De Rothschild having sat for his picture some years ago, to Aly Scheffer, in the character of a beggar. It is added, to complete the romance, that a chance visitor seeing the Baron in the artist's studio, made up for a sitting, and believing him to be what he appeared, slipped a louis into his hand. The pretended model took the coin, kept it invested for ten years, and then sent back to the donor 10,000 francs as the accrued profit, with a note to the effect that a good action always brings good fortune. A distinct corroboration from the giver of the louis, published in a respectable Paris journal, alone prevents this tale from being incredible. Perhaps no more practical encouragement to charity has ever been recorded, even in connection with the family whose benevolence has passed into a proverb.

HEAVY MOVEMENTS OF FREIGHT.—Rapid HANDLING.—The steamship South Carolina discharged her entire inward cargo yesterday morning, and in the afternoon took in 500 to 600 bales of cotton, a like amount of rosin, clay, etc., etc., demonstrating effectively, the advantages of the arrangements for loading and unloading in operation on these superior freight steamers, the South Carolina and Tennessee. A number of merchants yesterday witnessed with wonder and astonishment the despatch achieved.—Charleston Courier.

Billiard-Players, go to Pollock's. The French steamer Periere, in her last trip out from Brest to New York, made the passage in nine days and five hours.

MEMORIAL DAY.—The graves of the Confederate soldiers in and around Columbia were appropriately remembered yesterday. The ladies had been kept busy—a labor of love—for several days, preparing wreaths, etc., and in the afternoon turned out in full force to do honor to the brave fellows who yielded up their lives in defence of their homes. In the morning, the graves in the various church-yards were decorated; the afternoon being devoted to the Cemetery. Before 5 o'clock, the crowd began to assemble, and at half-past 5, a procession numbering several hundred was formed in front of the porter's lodge, and, headed by the Revs. William Martin and J. L. Gerardeau, proceeded, loaded with flowery tributes, to the soldiers' lot. Across the gateway was an inscription: "Rest in your noble graves; posterity shall to thy tombs in grateful reverence come." In the centre of the lot was a moss-covered temple, surmounted by the original flag of Gen. Gregg's old regiment—the First South Carolina. On the East part of the temple was inscribed:

"Let that tattered banner wave O'er the patriot hero's grave: And the dead again shall live. Unfurl that banner, fold it never—Liberty shall live forever, And will a resurrection give."

The procession, on arriving, filed in, heads were uncovered, and the Rev. Mr. Gerardeau offered up a fervent prayer, which was responded to in the hearts of his numerous hearers. The ladies and children then passed from grave to grave—the mound of the general and the private soldier being treated alike.

The graves in private lots were then looked after; and in a short time the cemetery was again silent. There was a general suspension of business on Main street, at 5 o'clock, nearly every store being closed, so that all could participate. The weather promised to be unpleasant—the wind in the morning blew in fitful gusts; but by 3 o'clock, it subsided; the sun shone out perfectly clear, and in the heavens scarcely a cloud was to be seen.

MECHANICAL AND INDUSTRIAL PURSUITS.

The large amount of property owned by the better classes in the South before the war, enabled most of the young men to either take professions or else to lead lives of ease and elegance, without obeying that curse of general application to the human family, viz: "by the sweat of thy brow thou shalt live." The results of the war and the consequent loss of property render it absolutely necessary that the young men of the day should go to work in earnest, but the feelings which had hitherto been engendered are still unsubdued, and the general desire and ambition seem to be to avoid, if possible, manual labor, and seek supports from the various professions or such other positions as are considered easy and genteel. The old theory that labor was not honorable, in one sense of the word, must explode, and mechanical pursuits must rank high in this country and demand the time, attention and services of our very best men. Young men are still aspiring to the professions, until lawyers, physicians, and clerks in every department, are too numerous, and most of the cities are crowded to death with these non-producing consumers. Another department can boast of its supernumeraries, viz: life insurance—agents are found here and there and everywhere. It would be better if some of these young men would turn their attention to other pursuits—lend their aid and intellect to improving the agricultural resources of the country, and turn their genius to the invention and practical utility of useful inventions, as well as working at those trades, such as the educated mechanic and machinist have rendered useful, scientific, honorable and remunerative. Some persons have formed the erroneous opinion that the educated men are fitted for something higher than the avocations of the farmer, but it is an established fact, that educated farmers, where they can unite practical sense with cultivated theory, are the most successful.

CHURCHES.—Assistant Assessor Ensor informs important information to all parties carrying on business. See advertisement.

The 30th instant has been set aside as the day on which the graves of the Federal soldiers will be decorated.

Mr. P. K. Coburn, supervisor on the South Carolina Railroad, in Charleston, for more than thirty years, has been forced, from ill health, to resign his position.

We would advise our friends in the country to make ample preparations to save the blackberry crop of this year. The berries, when dried, have become an important article of commerce. It will pay to save them.

The Charleston papers contain glowing accounts of the Schutzenfest. The grounds were crowded on the first day, and there was an inexhaustible fund of amusement.

Mr. Kemmerer, the well-known singing-master, has a class in Charleston. We may expect him in Columbia shortly.

A meeting of the new Council was held yesterday—Mayor Alexander in the chair and a quorum of the Aldermen being present. The committee appointed to inquire as to uniforming the police, etc., submitted a report that twenty uniformed policemen be appointed, at a salary of forty dollars per month; but, at the suggestion, the report was laid upon the table, for the purpose of giving the matter further consideration. Policeman Altee tendered his resignation, which was accepted, and a colored man, named Daniels, was appointed in his place. A petition was received from the Board of Trade—that they be allowed to elect the cotton-weighers, which was received, with the understanding that the request would be considered by Council. Alderman Wallace thought the request a reflection on the Council. After some unimportant business, the Council adjourned, to meet on Tuesday next, at 5 p. m.

THE 8TH WONDER OF THE WORLD has been found in Georgia. The discoverer is a physician of long experience, extensive observation and profound judgment, and his discovery has proven such a blessing to women, that it is already known throughout the country as "Woman's Best Friend." With remarkable quickness and certainty it cures all cases of suppressed menstruation, acute or chronic, restores health in every instance. Dr. J. Bradfield's Female Remedy supplies a remedy long needed in the treatment of diseases peculiar to women. This Medical Faculty knows and admits, while many of our best physicians are using it in daily practice. The medicine is prepared, with great care, by L. H. Bradfield, Druggist, Atlanta, Ga., and sold at $1.50 per bottle by respectable Druggists everywhere. M86

OPINION OF THE PRESS.—We take pleasure in calling the attention of our readers to a very remarkable medicine, a notice of which appears in the Observer this morning—Heinitz's "QUEEN'S DELIGHT." There must be something in it, for we hear it spoken of as a preparation of much merit, and one prepared by Dr. Heinitz himself, of distinguished pharmaceutical reputation. The euphonious sobriquet, "Queen's Delight," has in itself an attraction which need not of our lady friends in need of so excellent a medicine, and we suppose all would be benefited by its use. For sale by FISHER & HEINRICH, Druggists. A24

KOSKOO.—The Norfolk Daily Journal, of December 11, 1869, says: "This medicine is rapidly gaining confidence of the people, and the numerous testimonials of its virtues, given by practitioners of medicine, leaves no doubt that it is a safe and reliable remedy for IMPURITY OF THE BLOOD, LIVER DISEASE, &c." The last Medical Journal contains an article from Prof. R. S. Newton, M. D., President of the E. Med. College, city of New York, that speaks in high terms of its curative properties, and gives a special recommendation of Koskoo to the medical profession. This is, we believe, the first instance where such medicines have been officially endorsed by the Faculty of any of the Medical Colleges, and reflects great credit upon the skill of Dr. Lawrence, its compounder, and also puts "Koskoo" in the van of all other medicines of the present day. 926
